CONTEXTUALIZACIÓN:

Holiday Stories

Halloween

Halloween is the last day of October. That's October 31st. Halloween is a fun and spooky holiday.

On Halloween, you can make a Jack-O-Lantern. This is a pumpkin with a silly or scary face. There are other decorations, like bats, black cats, and skeletons, too!

On this holiday, you can wear a costume. Do you want to dress up like a princess or a super hero? Do you want to dress up like your favorite movie character?

On Halloween, you can go trick-or-treating. You go house-to-house in your costume and say, "trick or treat!" Then you will get some candy.

ACTIVIDAD DE AFIANZAMIENTO:

1. Read the text and answer the questions.

Friday the 13th is considered a day in which bad things occur. It is a superstition. A superstition is a belief of something ominous without actual reason. The origin of this superstition is unclear. Both Friday and the number 13 have been considered unlucky for hundreds of years. Bad luck associated with the number 13 may have biblical roots. Some believe Eve bit the apple from the Tree of Knowledge on the 13th day. Others point to the idea that there were 13 people present for Jesus's Last Supper, the day before Good Friday. The number 13 was considered so unlucky, that many hotels and buildings were built without a 13th floor! It wasn't until the 20th century, however, that Friday and "13" were paired together in bad luck. In 1907, author Thomas Lawson wrote Friday, the Thirteenth. The book was about a stock broker who purposely caused the stock market to crash on that day.

The Friday the 13th superstition, however, gained serious traction with the Friday the 13th horror film series. Originally released in 1980, the story centers around the "ghost" of Jason Voorhees. In the movie, Jason, with his iconic hockey mask, hunts the hapless characters who come to vacation at Crystal Lake – the lake he drowned in as a child. Twelve movies later, the Friday the 13th series remains one of the most successful horror film franchises in history.

Is Friday the 13th actually unlucky compared to other days? Not really. There is no actual evidence to suggest that events that have occurred on Friday the 13th throughout history are worse than events that have occurred on other days. Some studies have shown that Friday the 13th is actually safer than other days, because people are more anxious and attentive. People may actually find Friday the 13th to be lucky. It is thought that air travel is cheaper and booking a wedding is much cheaper on Friday the 13th than other days. It is clear, however, that Friday the 13th will be around for a long time. Over the next 4,800 months, the 13th will occur on Friday more than any other day!

Which of the following is a superstition?

Eating a lot of fatty foods can lead to heart problems

Stepping on a sidewalk crack can cause injury to someone far away

Sleeping less than eight hours per night can lead to poor health outcomes

Texting and driving can be very dangerous to others on the road

What is implied in the final sentence of the second paragraph?

People really believed that Jason Voorhees was real

People were really entertained by the Friday the 13th movies

People really believe that Friday the 13th is an unlucky day

All of the above

Evidence suggests...

Friday the 13th is no more dangerous or unlucky than other days

Friday the 13th is more dangerous and unlucky than other days

Friday the 13th is the most dangerous day of the year

Friday the 13th is actually less safe than other days that fall on the 13th

Why might flights be cheaper on Friday the 13th?

It is harder for airlines to sell tickets on Friday the 13th

Airlines are trying to get people to stop believing in superstitions

Evidence has shown that more airline crashes occur on Friday the 13th

If the answer to a question is "because people are more anxious or attentive," what might the question be?

Why is Friday the 13th so scary to people?
What evidence is there to show Friday the 13th is more dangerous than other days?
Why do more people crash their cars on Friday the 13th?

ACTIVIDAD DE AFIANZAMIENTO:

Growing up poor

My name is Mike, and I was born in a very poor neighborhood in Los Angeles. When I was little, my mother took care of my brother and me because my father left before I came to this world, and he wasn't too interested in being a part of our lives. My mother had to work two jobs that didn't pay much. She had to work very hard so that we could have food, clothes, and a place to live. She was great; we loved her and appreciated her efforts.

Every day, she usually arrived home very late, and she was exhausted. Still, she always cooked nice meals for us, played with us, and made sure that we did our homework. She always insisted on how important it was to get a good education. She couldn't finish school because she got pregnant with me when she was just a teenager. "I couldn't finish school, and that's why I must work so hard now, and I earn so little money," she often said.

Children were very violent in my neighborhood; you needed to be violent if you wanted to survive. There was a lot of crime, vandalism, and drugs. It wasn't easy to be a good student for any child who lived in our neighborhood. The other children hated you if you got good grades, so I wasn't very popular. The only positive thing about living in that place is that you needed to be very clever to survive, and that helped me later in life.

Finally, my brother and I could finish high school. I went to university because I was a very good basketball player, and basketball paid for my university degree. On the day of my graduation, my mother was in tears. And she was in tears again the day I showed her our new apartment, away from the neighborhood. Do you know how difficult it is to get out of a poor neighborhood? It's very hard, but I did it, and it was thanks to my mum. Now she doesn't have to work two jobs anymore, and I take care of her.
